

Paying for Long-Term Care: Medicare Does Not Pay for it All

Presented by Melissa LaPointe, JD, Dutton Casey & Mesoloras, PC

When a diagnosis of a chronic medical condition is given, not only do you need to prepare medically, but you need to prepare legally. Besides having estate planning documents, you need to know what legal options are available in planning and paying for long-term care. There is a common misconception that Medicare pays for more than it really does. This session will focus on how Medicaid, long-term care insurance, and personal care contracts can be used to maximize a person's quality of life.
