

Understanding Decisional Capacity:

How a Neuropsychologist Can Evaluate and Legal Options for Substitute Decision Making

By attending this session, participants will learn

1. How neuropsychologists objectively evaluate cognitive functioning for the purposes of diagnosis and treatment planning and when to engage a neuropsychologist.
2. The primary uses of a neuropsychological assessment and the major domains of cognition and emotion assessed by neuropsychologists.
3. The levels of decisional capacity needed to engage in the contract of power of attorney for healthcare and property.
4. Rights and responsibilities of an agent under power of attorney including those that the agent doesn't have.
5. The guardianship process and the role, authority, and powers of a guardian.

Presented by: Sherrie D. All, Ph.D. and Janna Dutton, JD, CELA

Dr. All received her PhD in clinical psychology with a specialization in neuropsychology from Rosalind Franklin University of Medicine & Science and completed her pre-doctoral internship and 2-year post-doctoral fellowship at the University of Medicine & Dentistry of New Jersey. Dr. All founded CCCW in 2012 to provide the "what's next" after a diagnosis of cognitive decline, filling what she saw as a much-needed treatment gap.

Ms. Dutton, founder of the elder law firm of Dutton Casey & Mesoloras, has been practicing in the area elder law for more than 30 years. As a result, she has the knowledge and depth of experience to skillfully navigate through a diverse range of elder law matters, including guardianship and financial exploitation matters, trusts and estate planning, Medicaid planning and applications, and probate and estate administration. She is certified by the National Elder Law Foundation as an elder law attorney and has held this certification since 1995

3.0 CEU to nurses, professional counselors, social workers and nursing home administrators.
